Right, picture this: a logo so minimal it makes a Linux penguin look like a disco ball!

It's like the other Linux logos decided to have a quiet night in, sipping herbal tea and contemplating the universe.

This design is so brilliantly simple that even a toddler could recognize it—if they weren't too busy playing with their crayons!

It's a basic rebrand, but let's be honest, it's the kind of brilliance that makes you want to shout, "Why didn't I think of that?"

So here we are, folks, I present to you, the epitome of simplicity!
